This concludes the Carver Funeral Home Records.....

PUTNAM COUNTY HERALD, COOKEVILLE, PUTNAM CO., TN
(December 21, 1939)

JACK CARVER OPENS FUNERAL HOME HERE:

Jack Carver, local funeral director, this week announced the opening of the Carver Funeral Home under the ownership and management at 304 North Jefferson Avenue.

Mr. Carver is a funeral director of over 20 years experience. For the past 13 and a half years he has been connected with the Whitson Funeral Home here and for six and a half years prior to that was connected with Wiles Brothers of Nashville.

He announced today that he will carry the best line of funeral supplies and will have modern equipment in every respect. He will make no extra charge for the use of the funeral home, he stated.

HERALD CITIZEN, COOKEVILLE, PUTNAM CO., TN
(December 22, 1955)

The newspaper this week took a look at the history of licensed funeral directors or embalmers, in Cookeville.

Whitson's Funeral Home, operated out of the old Whitson home on Dixie Avenue, was the first commercial funeral home in Cookeville, and Jack Carver opened its doors on July 1, 1926, the town's first licensed funeral director.

This was a year when most families were still preparing their loved ones for burial at home and bought what few funeral supplies they needed from a storage shed on the side of Whitson's Hardware store on the square.

Before Carver, Bill Sewell of Baxter and Mrs. Jesse Barnes of Cookeville were also licensed embalmers here, but Sewell retired shortly before Carver opened Whitson's new business and Mrs. Barnes had retired some time before that.

PUTNAM COUNTY HERALD, COOKEVILLE, TN:
(December 26, 1955)

COOKEVILLE WAS WITHOUT AMBULANCE SERVICE, FUNERAL DIRECTOR 30 YEARS AGO:

It's hard to believe that Cookeville was without ambulance or undertaker service just 30 years ago. Sale of the Carver Funeral Home recently recalls that Jack Carver was the first funeral director in this area.

When the Carvers came here July 1, 1920 to work for Whitson Funeral Home what little embalming work there was usually was done in the home and members of the families, neighbors and friends usually laid their loved ones to rest.

The Carvers said that Bill Sewell at Baxter and Mrs. Jesse Barnes, Cookeville were the only licensed embalmers in this area. Sewell turned his work over to Carver about 1930 and Mrs. Barnes had quite prior to that time.

In the twenties and early thirties, caskets and other funeral supplies were kept in a shed built on the side of the old Whitson Hardware building on the Square.

People came in wagons, picked up their casket and took them home or bought material and built their own caskets.

The only vehicle the funeral home had was a gray hearse. The first combination ambulance and hearse was purchased during the summer of 1928. Roads were so bad, Carver said, that they were almost impassable in the winter time.

Caskets were made of wood almost exclusively and vaults were practically unheard of. Jimmy Joe Scott and other brick layers would build brick vaults for people who wanted them.

As mentioned the embalmers performed their service in the home and a great mystery to many people in those days was what the embalmers took out into the fields and buried when they embalmed a body. This was the only way then had of disposing of the blood which was pumped out and replaced with embalming fluid.

The Carvers came here after working some three or five years to Wiles Brothers in Nashville. They were connected with Whitson Funeral Home for 13 years and started their own business sixteen years ago.

At the time they opened their business they occupied only one room of the present Jefferson Ave Home and their only furniture was a card table and nail keg, Mrs. Carver recalled. The house has been remodeled three times during the 15 year period.
