(The father of Hugh Wallace that married Nancy Jared was up for debate).

Robert Wallace (my 1st choice) or William Hugh Wallace & Frances. After studying the census I would come to the conclusion that Robert Wallace was the father of Hugh Wallace that md Nancy Jared. I believe Robert Wallace lived in North Carolina and that is where Hugh Wallace was born. Robert Wallace then came to Tennessee and settled with his family.

Another relative said that Hugh Wallace's parents were: Peter Wallace & Martha Wood, this lead did not work out as Peter and Martha/Margaret would have been too old to be Hugh's parents. Hugh Wallace was the brother of Abe Wallace who md Martha & Joe Wallace. His brothers, Abe & Joe, could be buried on the Homestead property, Silver Point, TN. Hugh Wallace settled not far from Silver Point with his family about 1820. Family history has it that Hugh Wallace was Scotch and came walking over the mountains with an ax and gun over his shoulder and settled the land. He died owning a great deal of property. His homestead was in the 13th District of Putnam Co., TN. Hugh is shown in the 1850 US census, Jackson Co., TN as living in the 12th District as a farmer. In 1860 the family was living in the 13 Dist., TN. The 13th Putnam Co., Dist. was called Laurel Hill in the Silver Point, Buffalo Valley area at one time. Buffalo Valley became Dist. 9, & Silver Pt., Dist. 11.

ORIGIN OF THE NAME HUGH

English: of Germanic origin, brought to Britain by the Normans. It is derived from the element hug heart, mind, and spirit. Originally, the name was a short form of various compound names containing this element. Little Hugh of Lincoln was a child supposed in the Middle Ages to have been murdered by Jews in about 1255, a legend responsible for several outbursts of anti-Semitism at various times. The story is referred to by Chaucer in The Prioress's Tale. He is not to be confused with St Hugh of Lincoln (1140–1200), bishop of Lincoln (1186–1200), who was noted for his charity and good works, his piety, and his defence of the Church against the State. In Scotland and Ireland this has been used as an Anglicized form of the Gaelic names Aodh, Uisdean, and sometimes Eóghan. Variant: Hugo (Latinized; also used in Dutch and German). Cognates: French: Hugues. Italian: Ugo. Welsh: Huw. Feminine form: Scottish: Hughina.

ORIGIN OF THE NAME WALLACE

Scots, Irish, and English: name for a Celt, from ANF waleis (from a Gmc cogn. of OE wealh foreign). In different parts of Britain this term was used to denote variously Scotsmen, Welshmen, and Bretons, as well as the small pocket of Strathclyde Britons who persisted into the Middle Ages. English placenames containing wealh (as for example Walcot, Walden, Walford, and Wallington) are believed to refer to enclaves of Welsh-speaking people noted by the Anglo-Saxons. The surname has also been adopted in the 19th and 20th cents. as an Anglicized form of various Ashkenazic Jewish surnames.

Wallace Family

Stray Leaves from Putnam County History

By Mary Hopson - Pgs. 223 & 224

The Wallaces were landowners in an area that stretched from Buffalo Valley to the waters of Indian Creek to land that later became the 13th Civil District of Putnam County. State records show that Hugh Wallace "in consideration of the sum of one cent per acre...on the 2nd day of January 1826 pursuant to the provisions of an act of the General Assembly" was granted 50 acres of land. The grant was signed by Sam Houston. Four years later "by virtue of Entry No. 2172" Hugh Wallace was granted 400 acres of land "on the waters of the Buffalo Valley and waters of Indian Creek" area. This grant was signed by the Governor of Tennessee N. Cannon. Bordering this land was property owned by Robert Alcorn, Prettyman Jones, John Jones, and Robert Wallis (Wallace). Another tract of land that contained 100 acres "on the waters of Indian Creek of Caney Fork," and still another grant of 75 acres "on the Ridge between the head of Buffalo Valley and Wolf Creek waters of Caney Fork" was made to Hugh Wallace. The surveys for the land tracts were done by Richard F. Cooke. The Insurrection Tax list of 1862 shows Hugh Wallace owned 790 acres of land.

Hugh Wallace married Nancy Jared about 1822. She was the daughter of Joseph Jared and Agnes Beard. Nancy was born in Virginia. (Both of these men signed the 1841 Petition for the Creation of a New County-Putnam). The Census records show they were the parents of William J. Wallace, McDonald Wallace, Elizabeth Wallace, Joseph Josiah Wallace, Matilda Wallace, and John A. Wallace. By 1845 William J. was married to Elizabeth Ann Petty. They were the parents of Adelaide Wallace, Amanda Wallace, Hugh E. Wallace, John L. Wallace, Robert M. Wallace, James Wade Wallace, Earl M. Wallace, Sarah Caroline Wallace, and Joel L. Whitten Wallace. William J. Wallace was elected Justice of the Peace. A marriage between B.F. Whitefield and Mary Barr was performed by him on May 21, 1882. He was deeded land by his father, Hugh, who divided land holdings among his children, giving each more than 100 acres. William J. deeded some of the land to his daughter Adelaide, who married Mansfield Smith, Sr. She in turn deeded her land to her three sons – Mansfield Smith, Jr., Robert Smith, and James Smith. That land today is still in the hands of descendants of these families. The will of William J. Wallace was dated January 27, 1894. Court records show that Elizabeth Ann, his widow, was appointed Executrix as he stipulated on April 8, 1895. Courtesy Lois Anderson.

Petition To Create Putnam County, TN: 11 October 1841

Petition of Sundry Citizens of the Counties of Jackson, Overton, Fentress and White praying that a new County be established, to be called "Putnam" with a Bill accompanying the same - -

To the legislature of the State of Tennessee now in Session. We the undersigned petitioners pray that your honorable body will grant us your petitioners a county composed of territory taken from the South Jackson West of Overton North West of White, your petitioners would inform your honorable body that territory Sufficient can be provided for a new county without reducing the above named Counties of Jackson Overton and White below there constitutional limits. The establishing of a county composed of territory from the above named Counties would add greatly to the interests and convenience of you petitioners who will ever pray 11th of October 1841.

SOURCE: Kinfolks of Granville County North Carolina 1765-1826 by Zae Hargett Gwynn
Published by Joseph W. Watson, 406 Piedmont Ave., Rocky Mount, NC - 1974

Introduction: Several criteria were used in selecting the deeds to be included in this book. The most important was to include all deeds proving or indicating relationships. Another was to select all deeds in which either the grantor or grantee, or both, lived in another county. This could indicate the counties from which people emigrated or to which they removed, many to other states. Also included are deeds in which both the grantor and grantee had the same surname. While this does not necessarily mean that they were related, it is a likely place to begin searching.

In many cases people sold land to their relatives in order to keep a tract from being divided. And there were many deeds of gift in which a normal price was stated. Since it was necessary to have a consideration named for the land or personal property, a high price would certainly make the gift seem more attractive.

Granville County has been found to be quite different from some other eastern North Carolina counties, namely, Edgecombe, Nash, and Halifax, in one respect. There were a very large number of merchants in Granville County from its beginning and they bought and resold quite a bit of the lands. They were noted, to a great extent, buying land at Sheriffs' sales and buying from persons who removed to other states. This also applied to the buying of slaves for resale. In the other counties mentioned, the merchants had very little to do with the buying and selling of land and personal property.

Another difference between Granville and the above named counties is that the boundaries of Granville County at that time were mostly artificial and many tracts of land lay in two counties and quite often in two states. Many persons who inherited part of a home tract found that their part, when divided, lay in another county. So there were a great many of these "border line" sales and others by people living in a county which was actually only a few yards away.

All of the deeds in this book were abstracted by the late Zae Hargett Gwynn and the Tax List for 1769 was also copied and typed by her. This material would have filled at least three books of normal size. Therefore, it was thought best to select the deeds for inclusion in this book which seemed to give the most positive information for all genealogists. Joseph W. Watson

1894 - 1896

WALLACE, W. J.: We regret to announce the death of W. J. Wallace, Esq. which occurred at his home near Silver Point a few days ago. Esquire Wallace was well and favorably known all over the county. He had held public office of some sort nearly all his life. He was a faithful and honest member of the County Court for nearly a quarter of a century. .

He had been a life long member of the Methodist church and died happy, we learn, in the blessed hereafter. He was also a Master Mason. He was about 73 years of age and leaves a widow and a large family of grown children to mourn his loss.

James Sailor Campbell was born in Putnam Co. and married Mary Bertha Bragg from AL. They were in the 1930 Federal Census in Lincoln Co. with children, however there are a couple of stories--one he ran off with a young girl, Ruby born in IN. He died 8 Feb 1939 in Silver Point and it listed a wife, Ruby Campbell. He and she are suppose to be buried in Holly Cemetery Putnam Co. without headstones. Dr. (Thomas Jefferson), T.J. Smith signed the death certificate and friends buried him on 9 Feb 1939. He was working at a cotton mill at the time. Died of puenomina (?) starting on 1 Feb 1939. Notes of Penny Giacoletti.

About Marriages in Tennessee:

Marriages were recorded in counties prior to statehood, a few as early as 1778, such as those for Green (1780), Washington (1787), Hawkins (1789), Carter (1790), Jefferson and Knox (1792), and Blount (1795). However, a state law requiring the registration of marriages did not pass until 1815. A subsequent state law in 1838 required marriages to be registered in "well-bound books." Between 1838 and 1919 both marriage licenses and bonds were recorded.
