

BURTON – ASHBURN CEMETERY, PUTNAM CO., TN (#262)

Source: Heritage of Putnam County Tennessee – 2008 by Putnam County Heritage Book Committee and County Heritage Inc.

Pg. 73 – The Burton-Ashburn Cemetery is located in Silver Point on Highway 56 near the DeKalb County line. It is on the Eldon Draper and Dorothy Nell (Denny) Stout. The cemetery was begun by Dorothy's family many years ago. The oldest recorded stone was that of Margaret Burton the 9-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Burton. She was born December 22, 1882 and died August 3, 1883. William B. Campbell Burton, the child's grandfather, was born on January 8, 1850, and died on January 15, 1888. He was the owner of the land at the time of his grandchild's death. Albert W. and Minnie Bell Burton Ashburn, son-in-law and daughter of William B. Campbell Burton, were the next owners of the farm where the cemetery lays. There are about sixty graves located in this family cemetery. Story submitted by Carolyn A. Adcock, Heritage Committee member.

Etmo (Jared) Burton

Herald, Cookeville, TN: 27 April 1933

TO PROBE, WOMAN'S DEATH TO 'SATISFY' BROTHER, SISTER
Coroner Dow Will Conduct Autopsy of Mrs. Burton At Silver Point

MURDER IS NOT HINTED

County coroner, J. J. B. Dow was to conduct the examination this afternoon of the body of Mrs. L. D. Burton, 58, who died suddenly at her home in Silver Point, March 10, just four days before her husband died of pneumonia.

E. Y. Jared, of Buffalo Valley, a brother of Mrs. Burton, told the Herald that he had asked the body be exhumed to "satisfy" him and another sister, Ulzo Jared, of the Eleventh District.

He said Mrs. Burton dropped dead March 10 of what statistical records here state as simply "heart failure." Mr. Jared said he had never heard of Mrs. Burton's having heart disease, nor was he aware of her being ill.

F. U. Foster, professor of chemistry at Tennessee Tech, will analyze the vital organs of Mrs. Burton.

'Just to Know'

Asked if he and his sister suspected foul play to the death of Mrs. Burton, Mr. Jared replied that they were "not satisfied: We just want to know what killed her."

He was told that the exhumation would lead to the natural presumption that they felt Mrs. Burton had been given poison, but he would make no further comment. He said so far as he knew Mrs. Burton was a normal and healthy woman.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton moved to Silver Point early this year from Wilson county, where they had resided for the past eleven or twelve years. Mr. Burton had willed his wife his entire estate, including a farm of 147 acres in Wilson county, it was reported here. Mr. Burton's health failed while he lived near Lebanon, and he removed to Silver Point, his former home. He was stricken with pneumonia in March and died a few days later.

The body will be exhumed at Silver Point, and the chemical analysis will be made in Mr. Foster's laboratories at Tech.

It was said here that Mr. Burton was worth between $13,000 and $15,000.

Odell Harris Obt.

Harris Funeral Held Today; Constable Faces Murder Charge:

Military funeral service were held this afternoon at the Silver Point Church of Christ for Odell Harris, 35, who was shot to death Monday night by Constable Sam Brown in an attempt to arrest him.

L. N. Moody, minister of the Cookeville Church of Christ, officiated and burial was in Ashburn Cemetery.

Meanwhile, Constable Brown is fee on $2,000 bond pending preliminary hearing.

Conflicting stories on how the shooting occurred have been told. Brown told Sheriff Harvey Higgenbotham that he went to the home of Mrs. Mai Hensley, 111 Franklin St., to tell her that her son was in jail upon the request of the son when Harris came out to the car where Mrs. Hensley was talking to him (Brown) in a drunken condition and started using abusive language and slapped him while he was still in his automobile.

With that, Brown claims he told Harris that he was under arrest and that Mrs. Hensley told him that she would take her son-in-law (Harris) in the house. Brown told officers that he told her that it was too late and that she told him he would have to get a warrant before he could arrest him. Brown said he decided to get a warrant, according to Sheriff Higgenbotham, but changed his mind.

Members of the Harris Brothers Post of the V.F.W. heard about the shooting before their regular meeting, and heard that there had not been an investigation made- only what Brown had told the Sheriff.

A committee of V.F.W. members were appointed to get Police Chief L. K. Morgan and go inquire of witnesses to the shooting as to what had happened.

Witnesses said that at no time did they see Harris attempt to hit the constable.

The police chief said there were several witnesses to the shooting and that Rufus Hunter, 34, was seated in his front yard just across the street from the Hensley residence at the time. Hunter was quoted as saying that Brown drove up in his car and called to Mrs. Hensley who came to the auto. In a few minutes, Harris also came to the car and joined the conversation. "you aren't taking his without a warrant."

Then according to the account reported to have been given by Hunter, Brown declared he would get a warrant. Brown, it was declared, started toward the car and then turned and said "No, I never don a man this way. I'm taking you now." The constable then, it was alleged, swung around and fired at Harris and got into his car and drove away.

Chief Morgan also quoted another witness, Mrs. Myrtle Ray, a neighbor, as saying she saw Brown shake hands with Harris and heard him say he was his friend and later heard Brown tell Harris he would shoot him if he didn't go with him. Mrs. Ray said she did not see the shooting.

Harris fell in the front yard of the Hensley place with a bullet through his neck. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at the hospital.

Harris' 17-year-old wife had gone to the jail at the time of the shooting, having heard that her husband was arrested with two or three other men earlier in the day by the sheriff's deputies. She signed the murder warrant.

Harris, a native of Silver Point, was a veteran of World War II and the holder of five battle stars.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Byrd Harris. He was a resident of Detroit, MI, and was in this section on a visit.
