Lovie Hunter, 12 year old son of Mr & Mrs Alex Hunter of Bloomington Springs, died at the City hospital here early Wednesday morning from burns received Monday morning when he poured gasoline, thinking it was coal oil, over a kitchen fire at his father's home.

The fire had been built and the youth sought to make it burn better by pouring coal oil on it. The can exploded, catching his clothes and the kitchen on fire. The fire was extinguished before much damage was done.

Young Hunter was brought to the hospital here Tuesday, where every effort was made to save his life. His father was also burned trying to put out the fire, and was reported to be in critical condition at his home.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home on Friday afternoon and burial will be in the family cemetery.

COOKEVILLE — On Wednesday, Nov. 7, 2012, David Mathis of Cookeville passed away. David was born to Bedford and Jewel Mathis at the family home in Rome, Tenn., on Sept. 20, 1939. He was baptized at the age of 10 in Mills Creek, off Hwy. 70, along with his older brothers, John, Noble and Ray, by Brother Malcolm Rodgers.

Dave was highly respected and loved by his family and many friends for numerous reasons; his strong will, his ability to make his own way, his honesty, his straightforwardness and a way of bringing out the best in others.

The love of fast cars and driving developed into his becoming a professional drag racer. His ability to work with his hands entered him into the building trade, building homes and buildings, which are still standing today. An extremely talented man, "Mathis," as he was known by many, achieved many personal goals which he had set for himself. A true entrepreneur and successful businessman, a carpenter of master craftsman status, an artist in automotive design and mechanics, a talented athlete in professional auto racing, a family provider, a stern teacher and, most of all, a loving husband to Patricia of more than 50 years.

If David did it, it was done right. He was a man's man, a working man, a staunch believer of making his own way through life. He lived his life as he believed he should. "I can do anything I set my mind to" he would say, and proved that to others on many occasions. His life's creed, "If it harms none, do what you will."

He instilled these qualities in those who were lucky enough to learn from his examples and from his teachings. His guidance, skills and fairness will be missed.

David's confidence, determination and, most of all, the immense love for his family and friends will be remembered.

David Mathis lived a full life and leaves behind a legacy any man would be proud of.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Bedford and Jewel; his sister, Marjanna; two sons, Larry and David; and a grandson, Derek.

Commemorative by Richard Mathis.
