COOKEVILLE — Glen Keith Pyle, age 91, died peacefully in Nashville on Sept. 24, 2016. He is survived by his loving wife, Joyce Vaughn Pyle; his doting daughter, Phyllis

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by sisters, Wanda Slagle and Deltha Williams.

Glen was born on Jan. 16, 1925 in Pickett County to James Dewey and Susan Lucille Ammonette Pyle. He grew up on a beautiful farm in Cookeville and at the age of 17, Glen volunteered to serve his country and fought bravely in the Pacific Theater during WWII. After returning from the service, he opened a restaurant with his mother in Baxter until he heard the call to “go West young man” and he headed to California. He was successful in many endeavors, including farming, sales and entertainment industries, even playing the stock market. He owned several successful businesses including Bakersfield Office Supply in California and Ashley B. Denim Wear in the heart of Music City, USA.

At 25, he welcomed his only daughter, Phyllis, into the world, who would always be “daddy’s little girl.” Glen showered Phyllis with love and affection; she was his pride and joy and was by his side everywhere he went. On Aug. 27, 1976, in Pulaski, he married the love of his life, Joyce, who remained a caring and loving wife for 40 years, who lead him to the Lord and witnessed his baptism at Two Rivers Baptist Church. Their shared faith gave them a foundation that carried them through both the trials and triumphs of their life together. He was an active and dedicated attendee of Clearview Baptist Church in Franklin. He leaves behind a legacy of the spirit of entrepreneurship, faith in the Lord and the love of family.
