

William Henderson Brown, b. 8 February 1835, Jackson Co., TN – d. 4 June 1913, DeKalb Co., TN, md on the 27th of July 1864, Smith Co., TN to Vianna (Phy) Brown, b. 14 September 1839 – d. 11 July 1930, d/o Silas Josiah Phy (1799-1875) & Nancy Phillips (1808-1888). William Henderson Brown, s/o John Walker Brown Jr. (1811-1880) & Elizabeth “Kiziah” Anderson (1812-1880). William H. Brown and his wife Vianna (Phy) Brown are both buried in the Brown Cemetery, Cherry Hill, DeKalb Co., TN.

Children of William and Vianna (Phy) Brown are:

1. Sarah A. Brown, b. 1860, DeKalb Co., TN, md Henry Puckett.
2. Isaac Thomas Brown, b. 27 march 1867, DeKalb Co., TN – d. 25 June 1942, DeKalb Co., TN, md Tennessee “Tennie” Herald (1877-1960).
3. Joseph Brown, b. 14 November 1870, DeKalb Co., TN – d. 20 May 1944, DeKalb Co., TN, md Nancy Ann Lafever (1874-1904).
4. Nancy Caroline Brown, b. 21 November 1872, DeKalb Co., TN – d. 20 February 1924, DeKalb Co., TN.
5. Elizabeth H. Brown, b. 1876, DeKalb Co., TN.
6. Mary Brown, b. 1878, DeKalb Co., TN.
7. Amanda Brown, b. 12 February 1880, DeKalb Co., TN – d. 15 November 1958, Maynard, Middlesex, MA, md James A. Maynard (1880-1959).
8. William Byron “Billy” Brown, b. 6 September 1881, DeKalb Co., TN – d. 12 February 1934, Cherry Hill, Brown Ridge, DeKalb Co., TN, md Martha Bell Lafever (1882-1939).

STUDENT DOES HISTORICAL RESEACH ON OHIO RAID

Herald-Citizen, Cookeville, TN:
Sunday, 4 November 2012, pg. B3

PUTNAM COUNTY – Morgan-Jane Herald Mahan, seventh grade homeschooler who is currently serving office of Historian of the Colonel Sidney Smith Stanton #962 Chapter of the Children of Confederacy sponsored by Captain Sally Tompkins #2123 Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy researched and visited the Tennessee Historical Marker for Morgan’s Ohio Raid. Morgan-Jane desired to walk in the historical footsteps of her Confederate ancestors who fought to protect their property, families, and way of life, to gain better understanding of the human sacrifice during the Civil War. Morgan-Jane’s Great-great-Great Grandpa William Henderson Brown fought bravely for the Confederate States of America.

In late spring 1863, with Union troops fighting at Vicksburg and General Robert E. Lee’s Army of Northern Virginia beginning the Gettysburg Campaign, General Braxton Bragg wanted to distract enemy forces in Tennessee and Kentucky. To accomplish this, he turned to Brigadier General John Hunt Morgan.

Assembling a select force of 2,462 men and a battery of light artillery, Morgan received orders from Bragg directing him to attack through Tennessee and Kentucky. Brigadier General Morgan desired to carry the war into the North by invading Indiana and Ohio. Aware of his subordinate's aggressive nature, Bragg strictly forbade him to cross the Ohio River as he did not wish Morgan's command to be lost. Assembling his men at Sparta, TN, Morgan rode out on June 11, 1863. Operating in Tennessee, his forces began moving towards Kentucky late in the month after Major General William Rosecrans' Army of the Cumberland began its Tullahoma Campaign. Seeking to aid Bragg by disrupting Roscrans' supply lines, Morgan crossed the Cumberland River on June 23 and entered Kentucky on July 2.

Those eligible for active membership are boys and girls from birth to the Annual General CofC Convention after their 18th birthday who are blood descendants, lineal or collateral, of men and women who served honorably in the Confederate Army, Navy, of Civil Service, or gave material aid to the Cause or those who are lineal or collateral descendants of members of the United Daughter of the Confederacy whose papers are acceptable by the present requirements for membership. Adopted children are not eligible for membership by virtue of the adoptive parents' bloodline, but solely by virtue of the natural or biological parents.

*Read more about the History of Putnam Co., TN and surrounding areas at: <http://www.ajlambert.com>

