Henry Jared, born July 17, 1885, Smith Co., TN, died December 10, 1941, Putnam Co., TN, buried Jared Cemetery-Bryant Ridge- west of Baxter in the Cedar Hill community, Putnam Co. Henry was the eldest of six children of Albert Sidney and Sarah (Watts) Jared.

Henry was a farmer. He never went to school; he was kept home to work and help pay for the place where his parents lived. Later, his mother said she thought it was a mistake that they kept him from going to school. He married on January 26, 1908, in Putnam County, Tennessee, Marietta Bell (called Mary Bell) McBroom, born October 16, 1890, Putnam County, died February 28, 1966 of cancer at Carthage, Tennessee. She lived on Hogan's Creek in Smith County, in a home next to her daughter, Elizabeth Jared Smith.

Mary Bell was the daughter of Thomas Jefferson "Jeff" McBroom and Elvira (Campbell) McBroom. The McBroom family settled in Putnam County at a very early date, and are descendants of James McBroom. The Campbell's, likewise, were early settlers and lived in Jackson and White Counties, descendants of Daniel Campbell.

Henry Jared moved from Smith County to Putnam County with his parents about 1897. He spent the rest of his life in Putnam County, and died at the age of 56, three days after Pearl Harbor, leaving his wife with several children, the youngest child then 10 years of age. Henry and Bell had 11 children. The youngest child was the first to die. Eight of the children are alive (1986).
