WHITE COUNTY: Legends & Stories of White County, TN

By Coral Williams - <http://www.tngenweb.org/white/#HISTORY>

White County was formed from a part of Smith County by an act of the Legislature on September 12, 1806. There are three legends as to how White County got its name. Accounting to Mr. Cisco1 in an article for the Nashville American, White County was named in honor of Hugh Lawson White, jurist and statesman, who was born in Iredell County, North Carolina. It is improbable that the county was named for Hugh L. White, for he was at that time an obscure young man, living in another section of the state. Another legend says that the county was named for John White2, a citizen of the territory at the time. He had been a soldier of the Revolution and had been one of the first settlers in what is now known as Hickory Valley. Little is now known of his life and character or why the county should have been named for him. The third, found in Expositor, 1902, says that White County was named for General James White. Judge James White as the father of Hugh Lawson White.

Virgil Jernigan Obt.

News was received here a day or two ago of the death of Virgil Jernigan which occurred at his home in Tompkinsville, KY after a short illness.

Mr. Jernigan was the son of Charles Jernigan, who lived between Cookeville and Double Springs, and had made his home with his father up to about 2 years ago when he married a Tompkinsville young lady. He was a splendid young man and had many friends throughout this section who will be grieved to learn of his death. He was a traveling salesman for the Phillips – Buttorff Mfg. Co. and was very popular among the traveling men.

Heritage of White County Tennessee

White County Heritage Book Committee

By Mable Joyce Austin Moore:

From the direct line of Thomas Jernigan born in England in 1614 is Thomas Jernigan, Jr. born in 1652; Henry Jernigan I born in 1655; Henry Jernigan II born in 1685; Henry Jernigan III born in 1710; Lewis Jernigan born 1742; (Lewis served in the American Revolution); Kedar Jernigan born in 1768 and buried in Wayne County, North Carolina; Wiley Jernigan was born in 1816 in North Carolina. Wiley was a cattle dealer and drove cattle from North Carolina to Tennessee. He was my great grandfather. When he was 38 years old in 1854 he made his last trip of driving a herd of cattle from North Carolina to Tennessee. The following story sounds like a ghost story, but was told by my grandmother, Mary Florence Jernigan Austin, about her father Wiley Jernigan. At the end of the first day on his last cattle drive to Tennessee, he drove his cattle into a church yard where he planned to spend the night. A church bench was his bed. He was asleep by about eight o'clock. After about four hours of sleep he was awakened by a person dragging a red-hot chain walking toward him. She sat down beside him and talked about a hour. She told him some things that were good and some not-so-good. She told him if he ever told what she had said he would die instantly. The next morning he continued his journey on to Tennessee and located in White County. According to records of marriage at the White County courthouse, Wiley Jernigan was married to Sarah “Sally” Short the 19th of April 1856. He lived to be 81 years old without ever telling what was told him by the woman in the church.

According to the 1870 Census in White County, children of Wiley and Sarah Short Jernigan were listed as: Washington age 13; James M. 11; Walter Haywood 9; Mary Florence (my grandmother) age 7; John T. 5; Thomas Wiley and William Riley (twins) age 1. In the 1880 Census, the following names were listed in addition to the above names in Wiley’s household: Charlie P. age 9; Franklin Pierce age 4 who was a Methodist preacher at age 17; Laura A. age 1. Orlando Clay was born July 10, 1882 and died August 21, 1954.
