RICHARD GLADNEY BIBLE

The Old Gladney Bible, a wedding gift to Jane Strong Gladney, from her Mother, was passed around for years, for a time it was in the possession of Mrs. Albert Rhett Heyward Jr. of Columbia, S.C., daughter of Annabelle Gladney Carrol 1883/1916. Microfilm indicates Mr. Heyward is of Richard Jackson Gladney's lineage (youngest son of Richard & Mary Martha Bruce Gladney, grandson of Samuel & Agnes McCreight Gladney) (GIA pg. 57). It appears to have been with Bunyan Gladney and then to Joseph Gladney Kirkpatrick, Ft. Lawn S.C., heir to the estate of Carrie Lungenia Gladney Roberts who died in 1950.(GIA pg 54.) Mrs. W. Anderson, Chester, S.C. 1967 had the Bible and David A Kirkpatrick, Jr made a copy of the Bible Record for Mildred Arnold. The inscription reads "Jane Gladney, her book, received from her Mother, Jane Strong. In July 1990, it found it's way to Cecil Gladney in Carrollton, GA., through a phone call from cousin David A. Kirkpatrick Jr. from Camden S.C. William Cody Gladney wrote in his 1990 newsletter that it would be on display at the reunion that year. It was loaned to the genealogy room, Winnsboro Historical Library-museum, where it was placed under a glass case. This glass case is only removed when a Gladney shows up to view it. The pages look so very delicate, much like a very old ladies linen handkerchief. The outer cover was hand stitched in the center of the front, as if the covering had become torn and some one tried to repair it ever so many years ago. Pictures of the Bible were taken on Wed. July 26, 1995 at the family reunion in Winnsboro, S.C. July 1995.

Or* three eagles displayed*sable*. No Motto. The original paternal grant of arms to the distinguished old family of Gladney, prominent in history for many generations. The arms was granted and recorded in the old College of Arms in London prior to the seventeenth century. It is simple in design because of its antiquity and bears no motto as these had not come into use, and none was added later, as some families did. The eagle was called the "king of birds" and as such was a much-favored charge or blazon on the arms, it was the symbol of great strength, watchfulness and courage.

*Or--gold represented stainless honor and elevation of mind.

*Displayed--pictured with wings wide spread and facing the front.

*Sable--black denoted dignity and sobriety.

The leaves around the shield are used for decoration only and had no special meaning.

Introduction: When I first thought of doing something with the Rhea County records, I had in mind a compilation of only the marriage records. This was to include the records from the courthouse in Dayton, TN and those copied by Penelope J. Allen in 1932 from official licenses and bonds in the possession of Mr. George Barnes of Dayton. There were many marriages recorded in this transcription that were not in the courthouse records.

Jacob E. Matheny, of Munday, TX, tells us: “When I was a boy we only knew of one doctor – Dr. Fane. Later we had Goodpasture, Baker, McClain, Martin, Dyer, Robinson, and others.” “Not only did the early settlers wear home-spun cloth, but men’s hats were also manufactured to order. Within three miles of Cookeville, Messrs, Paul, Hamilton and Phillips were noted for the fine hats they could turn out.”

Thomas Gladney Paul profession was that of a hatter.

Source: Population Schedule of the United States Census of 1830 for Rhea County, Tennessee, transcribed by Willis Hutcherson, 1965

Introduction:

The white man steadily encroached on the Indian forcing him out of his homeland and so it was in the territory which became Rhea County, Tennessee. As early as 1787, some persons, who held North Carolina land warrants, were paddling down the Tennessee River in canoes and marking corners for locating grants in the area which became Rhea County, although the Indians held the land.

In theory as each new county was formed southwestward in East Tennessee, it reached to the southern border of the state, although the Indian line in 1799 was at the Clinch River at Kingston in present Roane County. White people, wishing to enter the Indian territory had to obtain a pass, by order of the United States Government. December 3, 1807, Rhea County was created from Roane and was bounded much the same as present Rhea County except for some minor variations of county lines.

In 1815, Rhea County was extended southward to the southern boundary of the state and lost the same in 1819 to the formation of Hamilton County. In 1819 the Hiwassee Purchase added land to the county on the south side of the Tennessee River which was lost to the formation of Meigs County in 1836.

The 1830 census included all the people living in the area of present Rhea County and those who had moved south of the river and were taken in by Meigs County.

In 1840 the population of Rhea County decreased to less than one half of that in 1830. Many were lost to the formation of Meigs County in 1836; others had moved down into Hamilton County; and many families were moving to the western lands being opened up.

FOREWORD:

Minutes provide intimate glimpses of crises in lives of our ancestors. Placid years of farming may be broken by the event that brought an ancestor to the court's attention. At the least, he may appear as a juror. Or as a horse thief, pauper, debtor, or witness. He may be involved in breach of contract, bastardy suit, dispute over land boundaries, or partition of inherited land. He may be found laying off a new road, keeping up some miles of old road alongside his neighbors, or he may be before the justices to answer charges of public drunkenness, Sabbath breaking, or assault and battery.

My ancestor is James Paul brother of Thomas Gladney Paul. James and Thomas ended up in Tennessee and later in Missouri. Their father was Moses Paul. Moses' father was Archibald Paul who was born in ca. 1732 and came to America in 1768.

Source: Gladneys in America - <http://hometown.aol.com/retteacher/Desc.html>

Joseph Gladney was a surveyor. Fitzhugh McMaster, in his history of Fairfield County, S.C. Chapter II, p.16, wrote, John Phillips, who during the Revolution was a Colonel in the British Army, had 2050 acres in land grants from 1761 to 1774. All of these were not in Fairfield County. John Winn and Joseph Gladney were surveyors for some of these.

Joseph's land located on a small branch of Jackson's Creek and the waters of the Little River, adjoined the grants of Jane McBride, Archibald Paul, Ann Martin, Robert Martin, John Phillips, for whom he had been surveying, and Thomas Gladney. Thomas Gladney's 100 acres were situated on Reedy Branch of Jackson Creek bounded by land of John Phillips, Bartholomew Austin, and vacant land. The survey was made by Richard Winn, and certified February 10, 1771. Richard Gladney's tract was laid out in the shape of a square. Corner posts were indicated as "PINE, POST OAK, RED OAK AND OLD POST OAK". His neighbor on the northwest was Hugh McDaniel.

Source: County Court of Rhea County Minutes – Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions, February 1829 – August 1834, Abstracted/Transcribed by Bettye J. Broyles, Rhea County Historical and Genealogical Society, 1992.

FOREWORD :

The following Minutes were abstracted and/or transcribed from the original minute book on microfilm obtained from the Tennessee State Archives. The book was unnumbered, but was the 7th or 8th in the series. The term "abstracted/transcribed" is being used because many of the entries have been copied in their entirety. Although there is some duplication, no entry has been skipped or omitted.

The County Court was presided over by Justices of the Peace appointed by the State Legislature and Commissioned by the Governor. The Court heard cases pertaining to assault and battery, selling "spirituous liquors" without a license, gaming, basterdy, etc., many of which were tried by a jury. Jurors also were appointed for the Circuit Court.

The Justices appointed various County officers (Court Clerks, Trustee, Registrar, Sheriff, Entry Taker, etc.) administrators on estates, guardians for orphans and minor heirs, road overseers, juries of view to lay off new roads, committees to supervise the building of bridges and County buildings (Jail and Courthouse), and authorized the establishment of ferries across the Tennessee River. Tax rates (County and State), rates of ferriage, etc. also were set by the Justices.

Paupers and poor persons were cared for though appropriations made by the Justices, providing for their maintenance and burial. Petitions were submitted to the Justices for the emancipation of slaves and for pensions of Revolutionary War Veterans.

Giles, Matthias Shaffer, and George Preston "having been appointed by the Legislature of the State of Tennessee Justices of the Peace for the County of Rhea, their Commissions as such having been produced to the Court, the oath of office... was duly administered to them and they were requested to take their seats as members of this Court."

Source: Rhea County, Tennessee – Deed Book F, December 1831-July 1838, Abstracted by Bettye J. Broyles, Rhea County Historical and Genealogical Society, 1995.

FOREWORD: In 1987, Rhea County Deed Books A,B,C, and E (abstracted by David Gray and Bettye J. Boyles was published by the Rhea County Historical and Genealogical Society. Abstracted information from each deed includes location, streams and other landmarks, neighbors, previous owners or grantor (North Carolina or Tennessee), witnesses, date of certification and date registration in Rhea County.

The original Deed Book F was transcribed/typed in 1914 by W. A. Howard (Register of Deeds from 1906 through 1914). The present location of the original book is unknown. The typed copy (and all other Rhea County Deed Books) is presently in the Courthouse in Dayton, TN. All of the books have been microfilmed by the Tennessee State Archives and can be viewed at numerous libraries in the state.

The typed copy (on microfilm Roll No. 76) is easy to read, but there are several names that obviously were misspelled or typographical errors.

Deed Book F contains many references to land in the Hiwassee District of Rhea County. The location to each tract is identified by Section, Township, and Range. This system of surveying land was established in 1784 by the Continental Congress. The law required that the public lands "shall be divided by north and south lines run according to the true meridian, and by others crossing them at right angles so as to form townships six miles square." It provided that the townships be subdivided into 36 sections, each containing 640 acres, "the division to be by cardinal lines surveyed and marked at intervals of a mile." Most grants were for a quarter section or 160 acres.

Source: pg. 324 – A Bicentennial History of DeKalb County, Tennessee by Thomas Gray Webb:

Everybody wore hats, and any male above six years old would hardly go out of the house, and certainly not out the yard, without a hat on his head. Winter or summer, rain or shine, his feet might be bare, but his head never was. Hatters made hats for men almost exclusively; women made their own hats for summer. Bonnets were not made by local hatters, but were brought in from New Orleans or Philadelphia to be sold in the stores. Expensive hats were in all likelihood made of beaver fur, as that was the material used for almost all the better hats before 1830. Less expensive hats were made of wool and were used by many men all the time, and by almost everyone for daily use. The hatter’s trade involved a great deal of working in very hot water and dye, and was quite a complicated business. By the 1850’s, the stores of DeKalb Co., TN were selling wool hats for 75 cents each, and the business of the local hatters was declining. In 1850 only three hatters were in DeKalb Co., TN.

Plat Map of Rhea County - 1836

Rhea County is located in East Tennessee, one of the state's three "grand divisions." Rhea County was formed in 1807 from Roane County.

This map is a re-creation of a Plat Map drawn at the time the 8 original districts were created.

District Two

Beginning at Thomas McKiddy's upper corner on Whites Creek. Thence down said Creek to Tennessee River, thence down said River to the mouth of Piney River, thence up Piney River to the mouth of Muddy Creek. Thence up Muddy Creek to the mouth of Charles Mitchell's Spring Branch. Thence to the head thereof. Thence a direct line to the Beginning. We appoint the place of holding elections in the second district at Archibald D. Paul's.

Most early settlers in Rhea County came from eastern seaboard states (North Carolina, Virginia and South Carolina) or the counties of upper east Tennessee, namely, Roane, Grainger, Anderson and Knox. Expansion was rapid in the early days of the county.

Source: Information obtained from James Mark Paul of Flower Mound, TX:

I received the following info from SC Dept. of Archives & History, 8301 Parklane Rd., Columbia, SC 29223-4905:

1. Account audited (File No. 5761) of claims growing out of the American Revolution. Four pages concerning delivery of flour, etc. by William Paul, to camp (Revolutionary War) for his father Archibald Paul. Most of the four pages are illegible. Audrey, would this type of service be under the "PS", patriotic service category mentioned in the DAR listing. Answer: Yes!
2. A bill of sale from Samuel Glegney & wife to Archibald Paul for 100 acres of land (September 19, 1772). You will see that the Glegney's (Gladneys) were related to the Pauls in SC.
3. Terms of sale of land between Samuel Glegney & Archibald Paul.
4. Samuel Glegney & Wife to Archibald Paul, release.
5. Agnes Dunn land bounded by Archibald Paul and vacant land. Not sure what this is all about - maybe a receipt?

6. Looks like a receipt to Archibald Paul for the 400 acres of warrant land he received on March 2, 1768.

7. Large plat of Archibald's 400 acres of warrant land.

8. Description of warrant land given to Archibald and signed by the Right Honorable Lord Charles Grenville Montague, Captain General of the Province of South Carolina on May 13, 1768, in the tenth year of the reign of George the 3rd.

9. Record of survey for 400 acres of land on west side of Catawba River for Archibald Paul. Survey requested by Edgerton Leigh, Surveyor General on January 12, 1768. Also contains the plat map. Signed and certified by Wm Carson on March 2, 1768.

The warrant land was given to Irish Protestant immigrants from 1761 until 1769 as an incentive to come to SC and populate the out country. The people of Charleston apparently wanted a "people" buffer between them and the Indians and hoodlums. Each male head of household received 100 acres and each female (wife) and minor child received 50 acres. So, Archibald was entitled to 400 acres total. Are you familiar with this period of SC history. If not, it is really fascinating. I have the name of the ship they traveled on , ships captain and list of passengers and their ages. Archibald, wife Agnes & 5 children arrived in Charleston on January 12, 1768, after about a two month journey from Larne, Antrim Co., Ireland, on the ship James & Mary. There was another family onboard, James Paul and two young children. This James may be Archibald's brother, because they were close in age. James received 200 acres of land. The land was situated around present-day Winnsboro, Fairfield Co., SC. It was called Craven Co. in 1768. If you go to <http://www.archivesindex.sc.gov> and search for Archibald, James and William Paul you will see a number of listings concerning property, etc. That's where the above info came from.

Dear Companion,

I have taken my pen in hand to let you know how I am doing at this time. I am well at this time, as common, and I hope when these few lines come to your hands they will find you and all the children well. We left Tullahoma (TN) on the 29th of June and saw the hardest time that I ever experienced in life. I fasted two days and nights and had to go all the time. And now we do on quarter rations a day, on bluebuck (beef jerky made with deer meat) and peas. I would to be at home and get something good to eat. I think my teeth would last longer, for I have to gnaw the bones of the buck. I would be glad to live at home and tell you some of my travels and adventures. I haven't forgotten you yet, Polly. I haven't kilt no one, yet. I don't want to kill nothing till I come home. I would be glad to see you, Polly, W.A. (Wiley was their oldest son, born in 1859) and S.S. (Sidney Stanton, the second son, born 1861). Tell W.A. and S.S. that I think of them a thousand times and would be glad to see them and kiss their sweet little lips one more time. Am at a loss to know what to write to you. I think I will get to come in a short time, for I think peace will be made in a short time, although we are looking for a big fight here in a few days and when it is over we will all get to come home if we don't get kilt. I want you all to do the best you can until I come home. If I should live and I hope it will be the last time we ever have to part until death. I saw Walter Clinton and Frank and Hugh were well. A few lines to father (Wiley Sr. was living in a small house on the place near Polly and the two boys). I would be glad to hear from you. I want you to write to me as soon as you can and let me know how you are getting along. So I must close my lines by saying no more at the present time.

James Nigte (Knight) to Polly Nigte, July 15, 1863

James Cornelius Knight Sr. md Mary "Polly" Wassom. Parents of Lydia Ann Knight who md Marcus "Mark" Matthew Paul, s/o John Paul & Mary Jane Mathis). His two brothers were also in the war, one disappeared and the other died in a Union prison camp:

The oldest brother was named Wm Ashbury Knight, b. 1826, and little is known of his service.

The third brother, and youngest, was named Samuel Harrison Knight, b. 1840.

Samuel Harrison served in Co. B, 28th Tennessee Infantry (2nd Mountain Reg't Tennessee Volunteers): Civil War - Confederate with a rank of Private. Mustered into service at Camp Zollicoffer, TN on September 7, 1861 by A. B. Hardcastle. Age 20 and enlistment was for 12 months. I believe James Cornelius was also in Co. B, 28th TN Inf.

Samuel was captured at the battle of Logan's Crossroads, KY on January 19, 1862. Turned over to Capt. C. H. Parschall, to be delivered in Louisville, KY.

Samuel died in a Union prison in Louisville, KY on March 6, 1862. He is buried in Cave Hill National Cemetery, Louisville, Jefferson Co., KY.

Wiley and Sidney were James Cornelius Knight's sons he mentions in his civil war letter.

WILEY KNIGHT FAMILY CEMETERY - DESTROYED

Source: Jackson County Tennessee Cemetery Inscriptions 1801 – 2003

Including Some Genealogy - By Larry Earl Mabry & Reda Knight Bilbrey – pg. 814

Location: From Gainesboro take Hwy 56 toward Baxter. Turn left on Hwy 290 going toward Cookeville then turn left at the Morgan Pippin Cemetery on to Liberty Church Road and go about 1 mile. You will see on the right a farm with a metal arch over the driveway. This is the farm where Wiley Knight settled in the 1830's. The creek got it's name from the Knight family. Don't know what this creek is called now. On this creek is where the cemetery once was but now no sign of it. Located on Knight's Creek, so named in 1850, on the farm which Wiley Knight settled when he came to Tennessee. Present owner doesn't allow anyone on the property. Cemetery was there in years past, and has been seen by several family members. We can only speculate on who might have been buried there.

It is believed that the following family members are/were buried there:

Wiley Knight – b. ca. 1807 – d. 26 March 1884

Nancy Knight (Clinton) – b. ca. 1807 – d/o John Clinton & Nancy Grisham

Mary Harris (Clinton) – b. ca. 1833 – d. 1874/5 – d/o Wiley Knight & Nancy Clinton

Joshua Harris – h/o Mary, brother-in-law Joe bean stated that Joshua died near the end of the Civil War.

Nancy M. Paul (Knight) - d. 20 May 1884 – d/o Wiley Knight & Nancy Clinton – w/o Moses Paul, s/o Thomas Gladney Paul & Sarah “Sally” Ervin – Nancy M. Knight Paul & Moses Paul had a son named Samuel Harrison Paul. Nancy M. Knight was 1st w/o Joe Bean.

Henry Knight – s/o Wiley Knight & Nancy Clinton

The above names are only a guess of who is buried in this cemetery; we know that these people died while they lived on this property. It is also possible that more than these family members are buried here. Since we cannot visit the cemetery of our dead, the Wiley K/Night & Nancy Clinton K/Night Descendants Association placed a Memorial Monument in the Wasson Cemetery for Wiley Knight & Nancy Clinton Knight.

Rhea County, Tennessee – County Court Minutes (Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions), May 1823-November 1828:

Abstracted/transcribed by: Bettye J. Broyles - Rhea County Historical and Genealogical Society

FOREWORD:

The following minutes were abstracted/transcribed from a Xerox copy of the original minute book. The book is also on microfilm (State Archives Roll No. 47) and a typed copy was made by the W.P.A. during the 1930's (also on microfilm).

The 1823 to 1828 minute book is the oldest of the books presently located in the Rhea County Courthouse. Three of the earlier books are among the Barnes Collection at the University of Tennessee Library in Knoxville and will be transcribed as soon as a good xerox copy can be obtained.

The term “abstracted/transcribed” is being used because many of the entries have been copied in their entirety. Although there is some duplication, no entry has been skipped or omitted.

Prior to May 1825, wills, inventories, and estate settlements were recorded in the minute book. Includes the names of the recorded wills.

After May 1825, the wills, inventories, and settlements were presented to the Court for approval, but were recorded in a special Will Book. These books can be found in the County Court Clerks office in the Courthouse (also on micro-film from State Archives).

Two revolutionary War pension applications were included in this minute book: Thomas Moore (pg. 59) and Joseph Atchley (pg. 64); and two applications for the emancipation of slaves: Mary Walker (pp. 24, 36) and Rezin Rawlings (pg. 97).

The County Court was presided over by Justices of the Peace appointed by the State Legislature and Commissioned by the Governor. The Court heard cases pertaining to assault and battery, affrays, selling “spirituous liquors” without a license, disturbing public worship, gaming, bastardy, etc., many of which were tried by jury. Jurors also were appointed for the Circuit Court.

The Justices appointed various County officers (Court Clerks, Trustee, Registrar, Sheriff, etc.), administrators on estates, guardians for orphans and minor heirs, road overseers, juries of view to lay off new roads or change existing roads, committees to supervise the building of bridges and the County buildings, and authorized the establishment of ferries across the Tennessee River. Tax rates, rates of ferriage, etc. also were set by the Justices. Paupers and poor persons were cared for through appropriations made by the Justices, providing for their maintenance and burial.

The minutes of the Court of Pleas and Quarter Session (County Court) contain hundreds of names of residents in the County. The road orders not only appoint an overseer, but list the hands (men who lived along the short section of road) assigned to help the overseer.

The Court of Pleas and quarter Sessions met on the first Monday in the months of February, may, August, and November. Most sessions lasted the entire week, although the number of Justices present was reduced to three or four after the first day.

Introduction:

The Watts Bar Reservoir Cemeteries are those cemeteries that fall in the watershed of the Watts Bar Lake. These records are taken from the files of the Tennessee Valley Authority in their survey of the area prior to the building of the dam.

Each of the cemeteries are located and then a survey is made of those that are to be effected. When the lake will cover the cemetery, a move process is put into motion. This means that living relatives must sign the forms to move the cemetery. In the case where all reason effort has been expended to find the living relatives and none is found, the cemetery is then flooded. When the lake will not cover the cemetery, but will cut off all access to it, the same move orders are given and same procedure is followed.

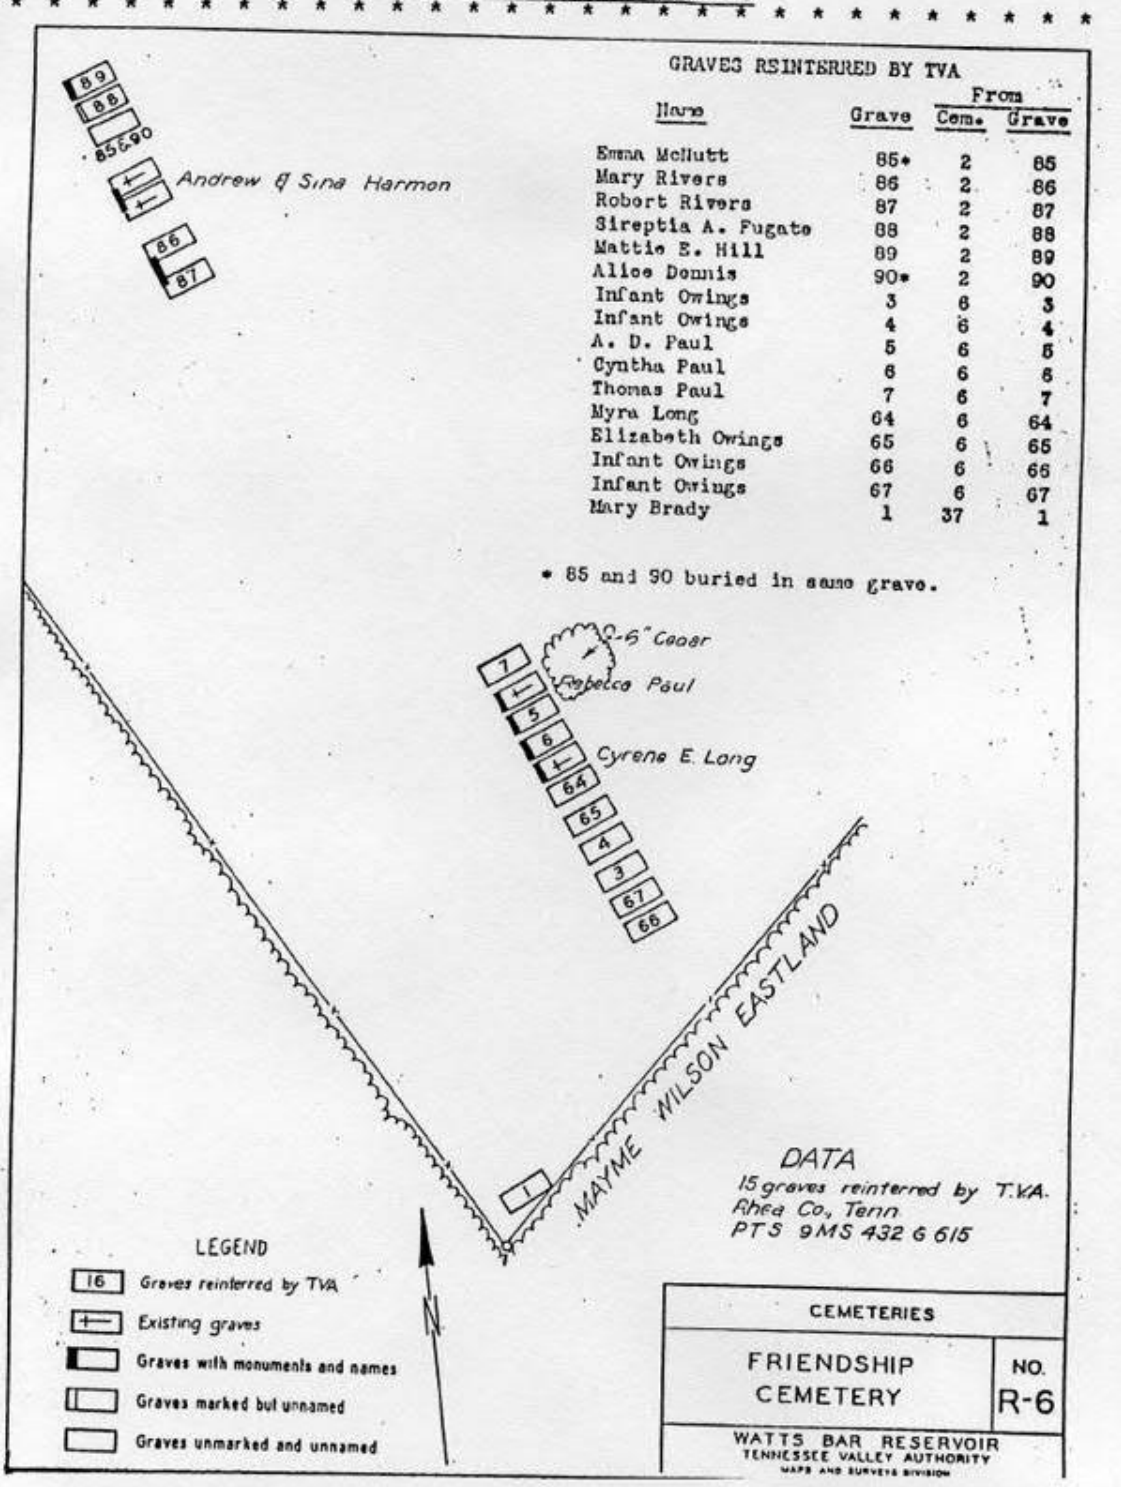

In the Watts Bar Lake area, there are many cemeteries identified, but the lake did not effect them and so no survey is made only the name is noted on the maps and index of this material.

The enclosed material is taken from the files of movement orders and also the field notes taken at the time of the survey. In many cases additional information is given by the relatives who are consulted. This area has many small un-used cemeteries and therefore, the identification is very difficult in many cases.

The material is presented for the genealogical researcher who needs to locate some long ago relative that has been missing or just mis-placed in the recording of history. We hope that it is of benefit.

WATTS BAR RESERVOIR CEMETERIES

Thomas Gladney Paul:

Originally buried at Breeding Cemetery, but moved to Friendship Cemetery by T.V.A. because of the building of Watts Bar Lake. No dates listed on his grave.

Friendship Cemetery is located in Toe Spring Valley north of Piney River. The Friendship Baptist Church is nearby. When the W.P.A. visited the cemetery in the 1930's, they noted that there were about 80 graves without names or dates. Land for the cemetery was donated by Dr. William M. Wilson. A large number of graves have been added since the 1930's. The W.P.A. listings are indicated by an asterisk.

On 3 November 1994, Lou King copied the inscriptions in Friendship Cemetery. Information from obituaries, the Tennessee Death Records, and Booth Funeral Home (BFH) records also was added by King. Headstones could not be located for many of the obituary records; therefore, these are listed under Miscellaneous Interments.

The cemetery was mapped on 27 March 1997 by Bettye J. Broyles, Cecil B. Smith, and Gary Drinkard. There are a large number of unmarked graves in this cemetery that appear as long, narrow depressions (shown as dotted lines on map). Many graves are marked with funeral home plaques (identified with FHM), some of which contain no name or dates. There also are several flat fieldstones that contain roughly scratched names and dates in some cases. Most of these are very difficult to read. Several reinterments from Breeding Cemetery were unmarked, but were located from the T.V.A. Reinterment Map near Graves No. 106 (indicated by letters A-G).

Because of the size of Friendship Cemetery, it was necessary to divide the map into four areas (NW, SW, NE and SE quadrants). A bird's eye view shows the entire layout of the cemetery.

BREEDING CEMETERY: Rhea Co., TN

The Breeding Cemetery was recorded by the W.P.A. in the 1930's and the T.V.A. in the 1940's.

The W.P.A. described the location as follows: From Spring City, "go east 2 1/2 miles to Rhea Springs, go east of Rhea Springs 1 mile to Toe String road, turn north on Toe String road and go 2 miles to the Perry Jolly farm. West of the road upon a little cedar covered hill, you will find the above named graveyard." The burials listed below are from the W.P.A. record (graves 5,6,8,9,10,11,16,17,18,21,23,24,25, and 42).

The T.V.A. placed the location on the left bank of Piney River at mile 4.3 and 600 feet north of the Rhea Springs-Iron Hill Road. The cemetery contained 69 graves, although only 17 had monuments. They executed agreements and moved the 69 graves to two reinterment cemeteries. The reinterment cemetery is indicated by (F) for Friendship or (M) for Marsh. The T.V.A. map is reproduced on the following page (numbers in brackets correspond to the map).

In 1940, the cemetery was situated on the property of W. E. and Fanny Wyatt in the 1st Civil Dist.
